Passing Out Invitations

Dear Pastors, and brothers and sisters in Christ, Happy Fall! It doesn't feel anything like fall here, but amazingly we were able to find canned yams at one of the grocery stores in La Vega, so we squirreled those away for Thanksgiving.

At the beginning of the month of September, many of the faithful of Iglesia Bautista Agua Viva met at church to pray, grab a stack of tracts and invitations to church, then split up into pairs to pass them out in the community. Some people appreciated the visit and gladly took the tracts, while others turned their backs to us, most often giving the reason that they are devout Catholics and have no desire to read or hear about anything else.

While we were passing out our new invitations to church, we noticed pairs of believers of other religions out and about on the sidewalks of Jarabacoa with us. We see them propagating false doctrine all the time. Please pray for this community, and pray that we would be a brighter light here. So many false doctrines are competing for the hearts of people, but we know it is really just a battle between two. Jesus who is THE way, THE truth, and THE life, and Satan who wishes to confuse, devour, and destroy.

Children and Teenagers

September has been wonderfully busy with opportunities to share the truth of God's Word with children, teens, and adults. Teah and I are now responsible for the Jóvenes (teen) meeting every Saturday evening. It is going well so far. In September we've had as many as 19 show up at the church for the devotion and related activity. Pray for these teenagers, several of whom are lost.

Our special Awana activity this month was crazy hat day. We were impressed with how eager the children were, and with the crazy hats they created. That day 38 children heard a clear presentation of the Gospel as Melina Lane taught about Heaven. They learned John 14:6.

Teah teaches the 7-12 year olds every Sunday morning, and we both are on the rotation for teaching children's church. Teah excitedly talks about her class after church every Sunday, beaming about how the children are remembering the Bible verses weeks after they learned them.

Many of the children and teenagers come from family and home situations that are not ideal. They come without the encouragement of their parents, some parents encourage quite the opposite.

We are very grateful for the faithful love and support you give us. Thank you for all your prayers and for your interest and important part in missions.
